THE FOURTH AT IRON SPRINGS

Other Happenings at That Delightful Mountain Resort.

Iron Springs, July 5.—(Special correspondence of The Republican.)—The Fourth has come and gone, and with one exception the day was a very quiet one in Iron Springs. A very serious accident occurred, in which George and Dix McNeil and Maney Holmes were painfully injured. The boys were playing with a toy cannon, which exploded, burning them severely. It was at first thought that George McNeil's sight was destroyed, and Dr. Scarborough of Prescott was immediately telephoned for. The noon freight to Phoenix was held until the child's eyes were examined, and it could be found whether or not it would be necessary to take him to Phoenix. It was found that his eyes were not permanently injured, and a speedy recovery is hoped for. The other two boys were painfully but not seriously hurt. Mr. McNeil arrived Friday morning from Phoenix.

Monday afternoon Dix McNeil entertained a number of friends, the occasion being his sixth birthday. Dancing and games were the amusements and light refreshments were served. Those present were: Maney Holmes, Harold Pemberton, Robbie Baker, Mary Christy, Herbert Collins, Ruth Alkire, Etta Norton, Starr, Mary and Francis Hamilton, Edith James, Walker and Carolyn Burtis, Dorothy Robinson, Harold Goldberg, Ray and Wallace McAfee, Chester Goldberg, Nan Fulwiler.

Monday evening a crowd of young people drove to Thumb Butte, near Prescott, where they expected to meet a number of Prescott people. For some reason they failed to make connections, and the two parties did not meet. They had a very pleasant time, nevertheless. Those invited were: Misses Francesa Baker, Eva Pemberton, Ada Lee Orme, Marie Baker, Marguerite James, Leah Randolph, Bess Flicks, Lily Solomon, Rose Bell Goldman, Messrs. William Wilkerson, Egbert Clark, Sylvan Ganz, Jim Parker, Will Flicks, Philip Chase of Boston, Eland Johnson. The party was chartered by Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of Glendale.

Miss Lucie Johnson is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Cain. Miss Leah Randolph is the guest of Miss Marguerite James. Mr. E. Ganz spent the Fourth here. Mr. Paul Murphy was over from Prescott Wednesday visiting the family of Judge A. C. Baker. Miss Rose Bell Goldman arrived Monday and is the guest of Mrs. E. Ganz. Mrs. D. H. Burtis and children are now occupying their home, near that of Mrs. J. E. Walker. Miss Eva Pemberton is visiting Miss Mamie Brown of Prescott. Mr. Will Robinson left Thursday evening for Phoenix. Mr. Eland Johnson has been appointed station agent here to succeed Mr. Marum. Mrs. Morris arrived Thursday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Homer McNeil. Mr. William Wilkerson returned to Phoenix Thursday. A carload of lumber was received in camp Thursday.

Houses are being built for Messrs. John Orme, Willis Norton, Carl Hayden, J. A. Marshall and Hawkins and Mrs. J. L. B. Alexander and Mrs. Sittler. Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Millay and Mrs. Harriet Hine will leave Saturday for Eureka, Cal., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hine, formerly of Phoenix.

Mr. James Parker left Friday evening for Florence, after a visit of several weeks here. A number of Iron Springs people spent the Fourth in Prescott. Misses Frankie Baker, Mary Baker, Ada Lee Orme, Mr. A. C. Baker, Mr. B. A. Flicks, Mrs. Dave Goldberg, Miss Rose Bell Goldman, Mr. Will Flicks and Jim Parker, Mr. Egbert Clark and Mr. Sylvan Ganz were among those who went. Mrs. E. J. Bennett entertained a few friends Thursday afternoon. Mr. Paul Brizard and Mr. L. H. Landis were visitors here Friday. Mr. Landis will soon begin work on his new house.

When you want a modern, up-to-date physic, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect. Price, 25 cents. Samples free at Elvey & Hulett's drug store.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The trustees of Iowa College at Grinnell have elected H. W. Matlack of Oberlin to succeed Professor R. G. Cole as head of the Conservatory of Music. Professor Matlack is a graduate of the Oberlin conservatory, and has been teaching there for the last two years. Rear Admiral Schley is an enthusiastic Knight Templar, and has promised to attend the convocation of that order to be held in Louisville in August. The little king of Spain is carefully guarded every night by a body of picked men, natives of Espinosa, who have served with distinction in the army. Alfred Austin, the poet laureate of England, is 66 years old, and it will soon be fifty years since he wrote and published his first book, "Randolph: A Tale of Polish Grief." For three years he regularly attended the assizes at York, where he wore his barrister's wig, but never practiced. Thirty years ago he had the exciting experience of representing a daily paper in Paris during the siege. Mark Benntt, superintendent of the Pan-American exposition press bureau, has made himself so popular with visiting newspaper men from all parts of the country that they are booming him now for a similar position with the St. Louis fair.

General Lew Wallace, who is at work upon his autobiography, recently made a trip to Kentucky to confer with some veterans, from whom he gathered data for a description of the battle of Shiloh. An account of that battle will be included in his work.

Summer complaint is usually prevalent among children this season. A well developed case in the writer's family was cured last week by the timely use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy—one of the best patent medicines manufactured and which is always kept on hand at the home of ye scribe. This is not intended as a free puff for the company, who do not advertise with us, but to benefit little sufferers who may not be within easy access of a physician. No family should be without a bottle of this medicine in the house, especially in summer-time.—Lanning, Iowa, Journal. For sale by Elvey & Hulett.

TALK OF THE DAY

The Kennebec (Me.) Journal says: "The descendants of Anthony Brackett, one of the first settlers of Portland, will hold a reunion at Lake Grove, Auburn, July 4, at 1 p. m., at which time action will be taken to see about obtaining the property claimed to belong to them situated in the most valuable part of the city of Portland. It is estimated to be worth well up into the millions. N. B. Tracy of Auburn, is at the head of the movement, and has been at work on the matter for thirty years. He says the advice of T. B. Reed, who is one of the heirs, will be followed, and it will be well for all who are descendants to be present to establish their claim to their part of the property."

Buckner—A doctor's life is a hard one; I think you'd hate it awfully. Dr. Floyd—Oh, I don't know. It has its compensations. A doctor being out at all hours, he doesn't have to strain his brain inventing fairy stories, you know.—Boston Transcript.

An Englishman staying at an English inn ordered a bottle of wine for luncheon, but only consumed a third of it at that meal. When he asked for the remainder at dinner he was told that all wine left at table went to the waiter as a perquisite. The landlord supported this statement, but when a summons was issued for the value of the missing wine the claim and costs were paid.

Fun for an idle hour lies in turning proverbs into bombastic verse. Here are two classic models: Teach not your parent's parent to extract The golden contents of the egg by suction. The good old lady can the feat enact Quite irrespective of your kind induction.

A member of the feathered federation. A prisoner by your palm and digits made. Is worth at least a couple of his brothers Who in your leafy arbor seek the shade. —Youth's Companion.

A clergyman writing to the Homiletic Review, relates that at one time he was pastor in a village where there was a German undertaker who was always anxious to please. Because his zeal in this direction and his habit of so often getting things backward he was the butt of a good many jokes and furnished others many a hearty laugh. One day a customer of his asked him to telephone the florist in a nearby city to send a floral design representing "Gates Ajar." He hurried to the phone, and, calling up the florist, said he wished a floral design. The florist asked what kind. He was puzzled, not not defeated, and after some delay said: "Oh, yes, now I got him. Heaven wide open. That's what they want."

"Biddy," Pat began timidly, "did ye ever think av margin?" "Sure, now, 't' subject has never entered me thoughts," demurely replied Biddy. "It's sorry Oi am," said Pat, turning away. "Wan minute, Pat," called Biddy softly. "Ye've set me a-thinkin'." —Harper's Bazar.

A curious old custom was revived at Great Oakley, England, where parish lands were let by "pin in candle." The local clergyman presided. A pin is inserted in a burning candle, and so long as it remains in its tallow resting place bids are taken. The last bidder before the pin drops is declared the tenant for the year.

"Mr. Schwab, could you recommend me a good business man for a manufacturing plant, who would be willing to devote his time to the concern and put forth his best efforts in exchange for a salary of $25,000 a year?" This was the startling question addressed this morning at the breakfast table in the Waldorf-Astoria, to Charles M. Schwab of Pittsburgh, president of the steel combine, and himself credited with receiving a salary amounting all the way from $50,000 to $1,000,000 a year. The man who asked the question was Colonel Pope of the Pope Manufacturing company. A year ago the question would have been laughed at as a great joke. Very earnestly and in all seriousness the young Pennsylvania "replied: "I am very sorry, Colonel Pope, but I cannot. In fact, I am looking for about eight such men myself, to whom I would be willing to pay similar salaries."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Here is a sentence from a novel recently issued: "This cloud that tried to stand in the way of their youthful joy was only a false report whose bitter taste could not splinter the radiance of their happiness."

"Horror! Here comes a school of swordfish!" exclaimed the mermaid. "Swordfish your granny! Them's New Jersey mosquitoes."

The weakness of his grammar was buttressed by his facts, and the mermaid fainted.—Marine Journal.

The managers of eighty-eight mills in Georgia have voluntarily signed an agreement not on any condition to employ children under ten years of age after September 1, and not to employ children under twelve at night. These mill men defeated in the legislature a bill enacting these, among other provisions, but have voluntarily surrendered to an aroused public sentiment.

"Ethel," he said, in that soft, cooling tone which sounds so foolish to the disinterested bystander, "I think that there is no treasure to equal a true woman's affection."

"And I," she answered, "believe that no riches can compare to the love of an honest man."

With all his sentiment he was a man of business, and without hesitation he rejoined: "Miss Smithers, does it not occur to you that we have enough capital at our disposal to organize a trust?"—Washington Star.

THE SAME OLD STORY.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by Elvey & Hulett.

RESULTS OF DEFORESTATION.

"When in our western forests one is constantly impressed by the change in relative humidity wrought wherever the forest has been removed," observes a writer in Popular Science Monthly. "Springs have disappeared and canyons and ravines are now dry where they were formerly perennial streams. Under the leaf mold and other debris of the forest the soil is moist, while on denuded areas in the same locality it is parched and dry. Everywhere the deep mulch forming the floor of the forest grasps the descending rains and melting snows and guides them into the deeper recesses of the earth. Where the forests have been destroyed, or even the mulch and litter forming the forest floor, as it is often by fire or excessive grazing of sheep, the rains for the most part, instead of sinking into the soil, pass over the surface, carrying silt and other debris into the streams and reservoirs, causing vital injury to irrigation enterprises. So, also, in the semi-arid regions, where there are no forests or where they have been destroyed, the wind has a free sweep, resulting in an enormous increase in evaporation. In some instances the evaporation from a water surface exposed to the free sweep of the wind reaches a maximum of thirteen inches in a single month. In exposed situations snows a foot in depth are frequently lapped up in a single day without even moistening the soil beneath. We do not appreciate how great the necessity for the preservation of the forests is to the irrigable west. Reservoirs for the purpose of impounding water to be used in irrigation have been constructed by private enterprises in many parts of the west, and the possibility of government construction of such reservoirs is by no means improbable. Effective reservoirs are not possible in our irrigable regions without due regard for the forests that feed the streams which fill them. Forests everywhere are the great preventers of erosion, and nowhere is this more evident than in our western mountains. The utility of reservoirs, and to a lesser extent of distributing canals and laterals, becomes destroyed as they fill with silt. To prevent this filling the forests must be preserved; they must be protected from fire in so far as an efficient forest service can protect them, and also from grazing wherever it seriously interferes with the effectiveness of the forest floor as a water absorbent."

You assume no risk when you buy Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Elvey & Hulett will refund your money if you are not satisfied after using it. It is everywhere admitted to be the most successful remedy in use for bowel complaints and the only one that never fails. It is pleasant, safe and reliable.

Her Father—What are his business prospects? Miss Heights (nervously)—That I do not know. I only know he means business.—Brooklyn Eagle.

STRAINS.

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains. I used it last winter for a severe lameness in the side, resulting from a strain, and was greatly pleased with the quick relief and cure it effected." For sale by Elvey & Hulett.

CONSULS' SALARIES TOO SMALL.

There is still no consul at Pretoria, because the president can't get the man whom he wants there to take a job at $2,000 a year where it costs twice as much to live in comfort. Nevertheless, there are hundreds of applicants who are willing to take chance of picking up enough on the outside. These are not wanted. What is wanted is that our consuls be put on a dignified basis. We cannot expect desirable talent when not even half of the living expenses are paid.—Philadelphia Inquirer.
